VOL. V., NO. 1812. NEW-YORK, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1855. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Two-Cent Daily Times.

Board of County Canvassers.

The Board of Canvassers reassembled yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, the Brooklands in the Chair. Fifteen Supervisors were present, and a large lobby of interested.

Supervisor YAMAX, of the Twenty-first Ward, read the returns of his Ward. In the Second District, Supervisor Cristy, for the Superior Court, 812 votes, for the Court of Appeals, received 812 votes. In the Fifth District, Supervisor Cristy, for the Superior Court, received 1,000 votes, and for the Court of Appeals, 1,000 votes.

The returns of this District in the hands of the County Clerk showed an entire omission of the entire vote of the Supervisor's return ballot in the Twenty-first Ward, and upon the return filed in the County Clerk's Office.

Supervisor Cristy, of the Sixteenth Ward, submitted a correction in the vote for Coroner in the Seventh District of his Ward, previously returned to the Inspectors. The mistake was shown to have been a clerical error in carrying one the proper figure. The amendment was made by the Supervisor and approved by the Board.

Thursday night about 12 o'clock, one of the freight cars on the Boston and Berkshire Road, loaded with oil, was standing on the Boston track, when it was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was given, and the engine was soon on the ground, which prevented the flames from doing much damage. The car was considerably damaged, and the oil destroyed.

Freight Car on Fire.

An Irishman, name unknown, yesterday morning fell down the cellar of the store, No. 617 Broadway, under the New-York Hotel. He was removed to his home, probably not fatally injured. He was re-

Fell.

Supervisor Cristy, of the Sixteenth Ward, submitted a correction in the vote for Coroner in the Seventh District of his Ward, previously returned to the Inspectors. The mistake was shown to have been a clerical error in carrying one the proper figure. The amendment was made by the Supervisor and approved by the Board.

Board of County Canvassers.

The Board of Canvassers reassembled yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, the Brooklands in the Chair. Fifteen Supervisors were present, and a large lobby of interested.

Supervisor YAMAX, of the Twenty-first Ward, read the returns of his Ward. In the Second District, Supervisor Cristy, for the Superior Court, received 812 votes, for the Court of Appeals, received 812 votes. In the Fifth District, Supervisor Cristy, for the Superior Court, received 1,000 votes, and for the Court of Appeals, 1,000 votes.

The returns of this District in the hands of the County Clerk showed an entire omission of the entire vote of the Supervisor's return ballot in the Twenty-first Ward, and upon the return filed in the County Clerk's Office.

Supervisor Cristy, of the Sixteenth Ward, submitted a correction in the vote for Coroner in the Seventh District of his Ward, previously returned to the Inspectors. The mistake was shown to have been a clerical error in carrying one the proper figure. The amendment was made by the Supervisor and approved by the Board.

Freight Car on Fire.

Thursday night about 12 o'clock, one of the freight cars on the Boston and Berkshire Road, loaded with oil, was standing on the Boston track, when it was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was given, and the engine was soon on the ground, which prevented the flames from doing much damage. The car was considerably damaged, and the oil destroyed.

Fell.

An Irishman, name unknown, yesterday morning fell down the cellar of the store, No. 617 Broadway, under the New-York Hotel. He was removed to his home, probably not fatally injured. He was re-

The Swedish Alliance.

The news from Sweden brought by the last private packet, show, that European diplomacy in the most active, just when little or nothing of its doings is permitted to reach publicity. Whilst the attention of the world has been fixed upon the attempts of the Western Powers to draw Sweden into an alliance against Russia, and the embarrassments of the Government at Madrid been matters of as absorbing a felt enough, silently and unnoticed the way has been prepared for important alliance, which will prove of decisive importance in the further course of the Eastern Question. This has been done by the Convention signed lately between the Western Powers and Sweden. The details of this agreement have not, and will doubtless before the end of the month, be published to the world; but in the meantime we may state what we already know.

The Government and people of Sweden have occupied a somewhat dubious position from the beginning of the war, towards Russia. The reason of this may be found in the geographical situation of that State, which lies between the contending parties. Sweden may be attacked not only by a French fleet from Cronstadt, but also by a Russian land army from Finland. The whole country might be taken possession of by Russia at any short time, by means of a happily commenced and unexceptionally carried out constellation of hold. It was accordingly very natural that the population of Sweden, at the beginning of the war, would not hear of siding with either party, and that the unanimous wish of the country was for a position of neutrality. The Government met this desire by entering, shortly after the declaration of war against Russia, into an alliance with Denmark for the maintenance and preservation of both States.

It is to be believed that this state of public opinion has since greatly changed, and that in the most decided manner. Not only was the fall of Sebastopol publicly observed in Sweden, in violation of the laws of neutrality, but the festivities were more numerous and of a more decided character than in any other country, England excepted. Those which took place for Stockholm and other places were full of the liveliest joy, and news is still received of similar demonstrations of national sympathy. The French are almost universally popular throughout the country, and the Russians are hated. Whether this change of opinion has had any influence upon the Government, we cannot say; but it is certain that the Swedish Government has, since the fall of Sebastopol, been more favorable to the Western Powers than before. Whether this favorable disposition has been carried so far as to induce the Government to enter into an alliance with the Western Powers, we cannot say; but it is certain that the Convention signed between Sweden and the Western Powers is of a character which, in the present state of affairs, is equivalent to an alliance.

The Convention is, we are informed, of a purely defensive character. It binds the Western Powers to assist Sweden with a fleet and army, in case she is attacked by Russia, and Sweden to assist the Western Powers in case they are attacked by Russia. The Convention is to remain in force for twenty years, and is to be kept secret for six months. The Western Powers have also undertaken to guarantee Sweden in the possession of Norway, which country, it is well known, is very desirous of throwing off the Swedish yoke. The Convention has been signed by Count WALEWSKI, Lord PALMERSTON and Baron MANTEUFFEL, on the part of France, England and Prussia, and by Count PIPER on the part of Sweden.

The importance of this Convention is very great. Sweden is a country of considerable extent, and has a population of 3,500,000. Her army is 40,000 strong, and her fleet consists of 15 ships of the line, 15 frigates, and a number of smaller vessels. Her alliance is, therefore, of considerable importance to the Western Powers. Her fleet will be of great assistance in the Baltic, and her army will be a powerful diversion in favor of the Allies. Sweden will, moreover, be a valuable base of operations for the Western Powers, and will be able to furnish them with provisions and supplies. Her alliance will also be of great importance to Denmark, as it will relieve her from the fear of attack by Russia, and enable her to devote her whole attention to the defence of the Sound. Sweden will also be able to furnish Denmark with a considerable number of troops, and will thus relieve her from the necessity of keeping a large army in Holstein.

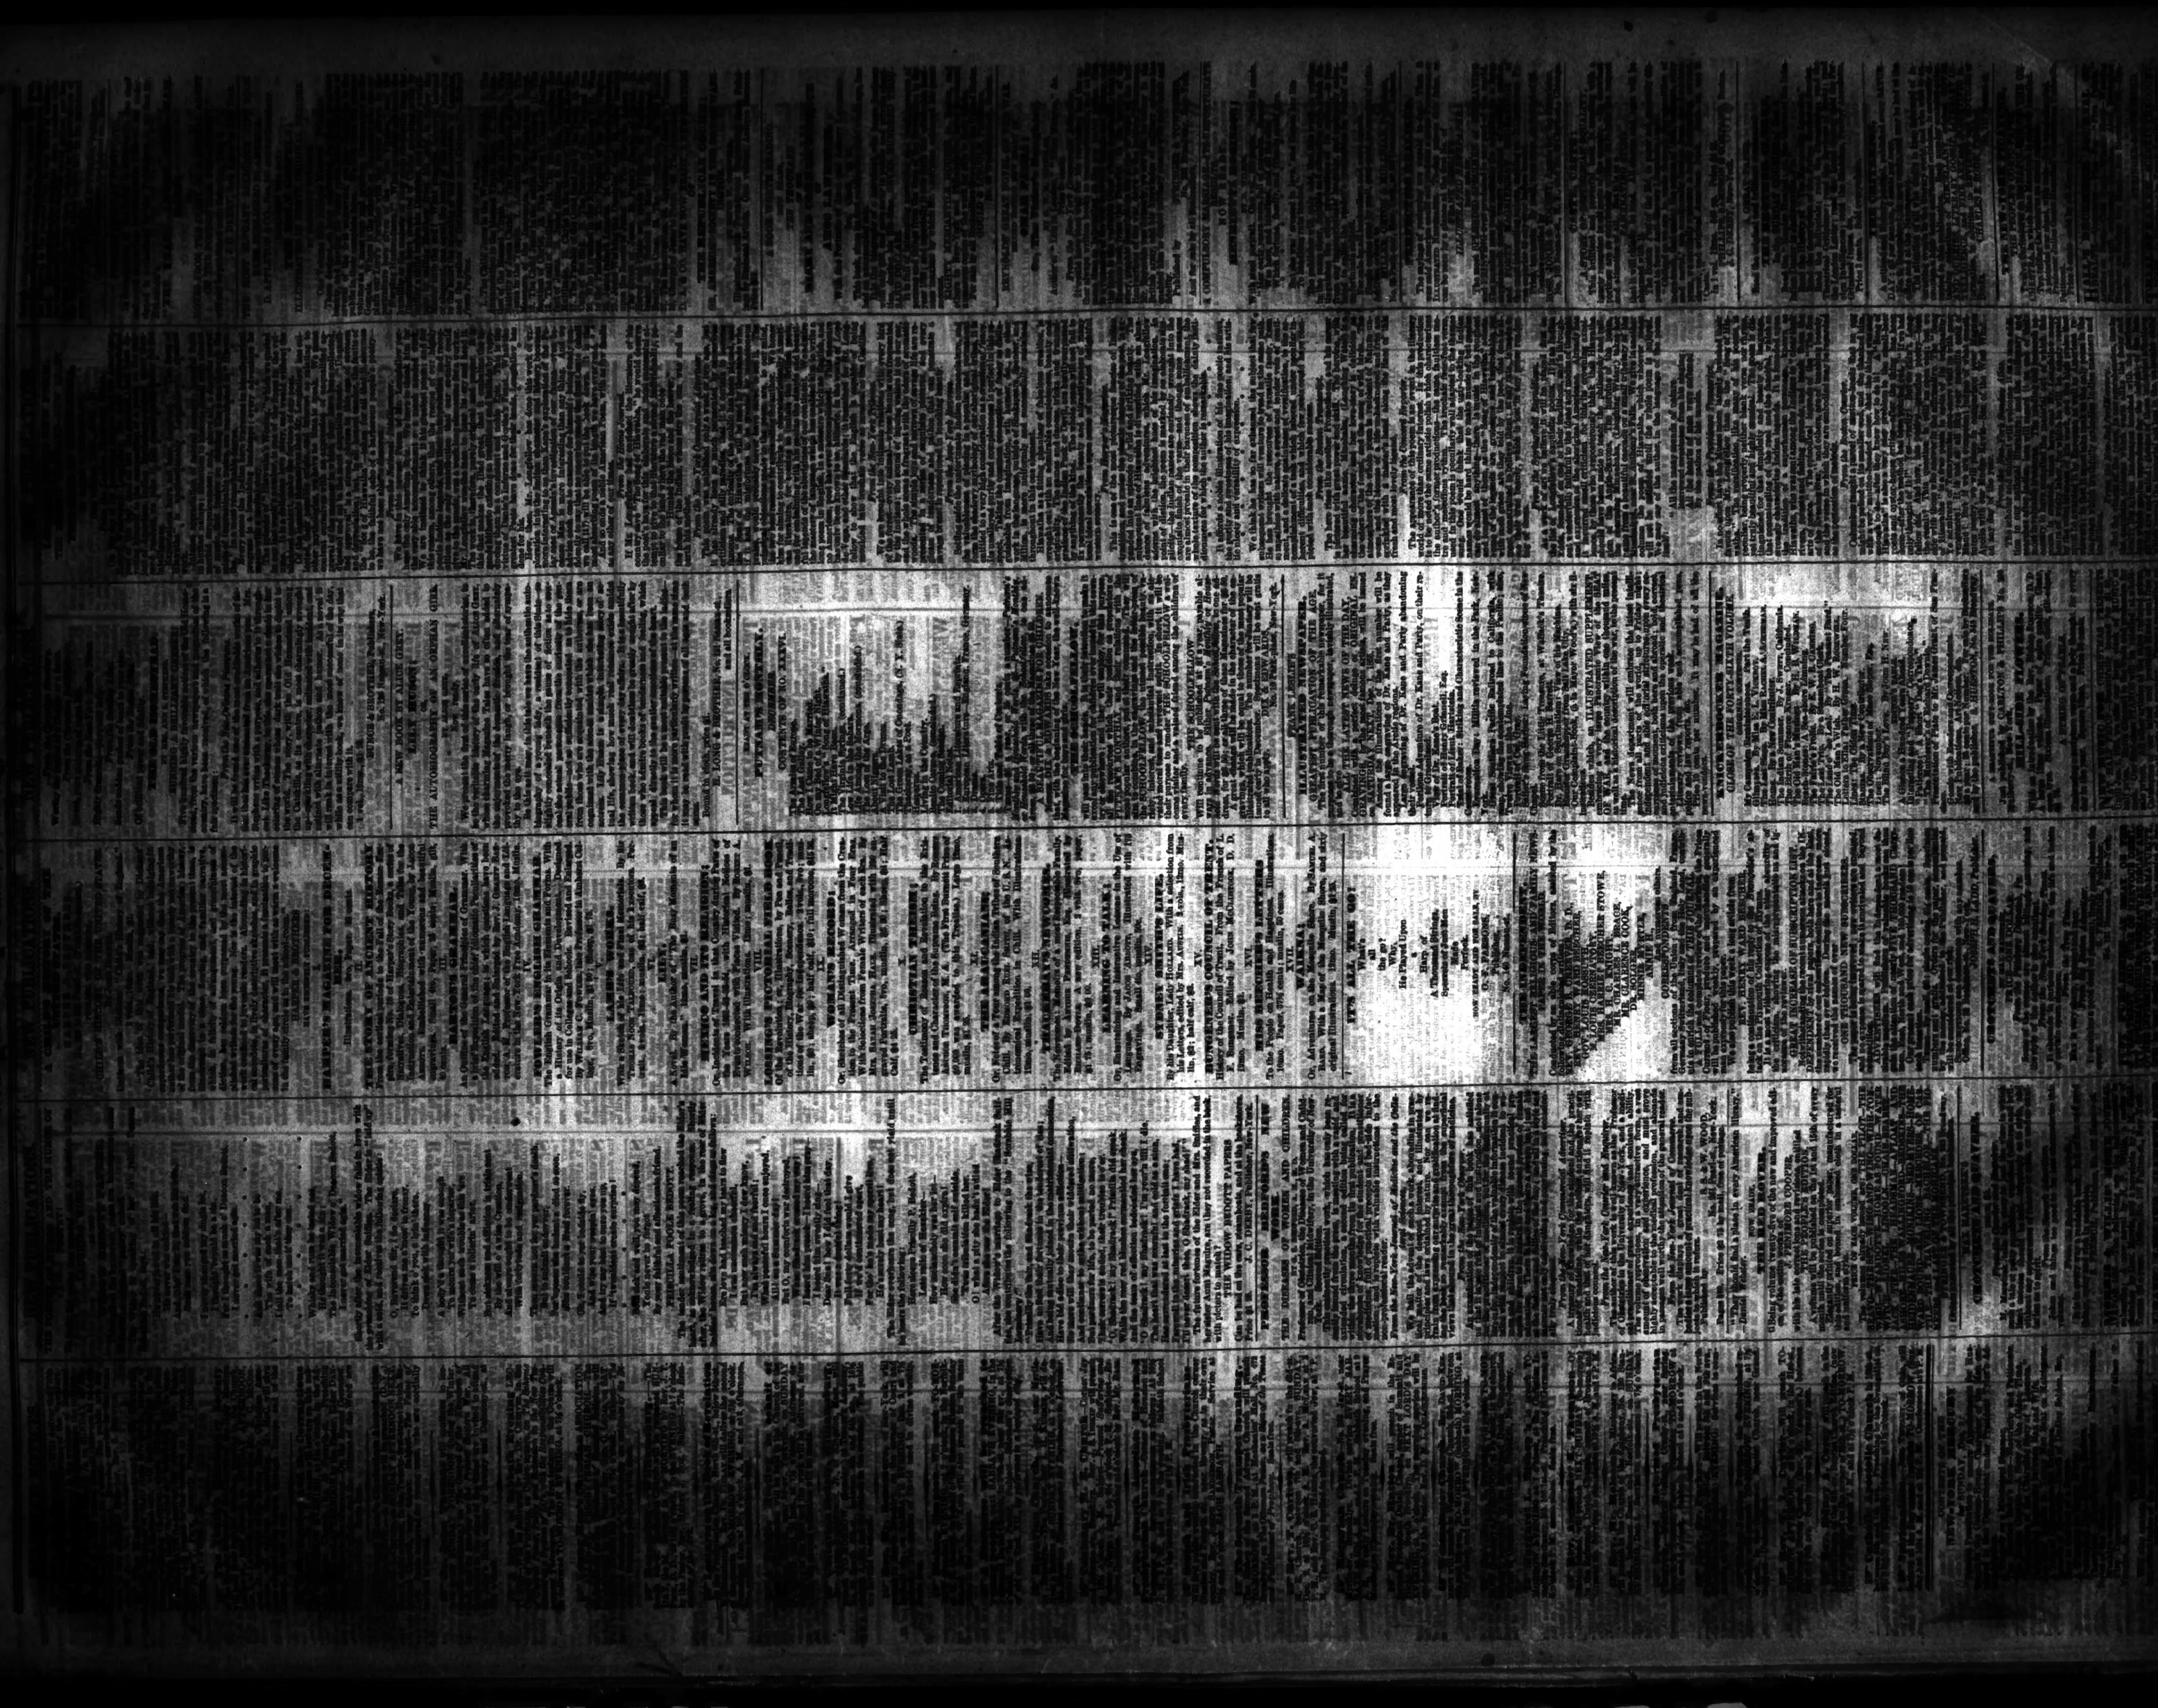
The Convention is, therefore, a very important one, and will, we believe, be found to be so. It is, however, only a defensive alliance, and Sweden will not be called upon to take any active part in the war. Her alliance will be of great importance to the Western Powers, but it will not be of any immediate assistance to them. Her army will be employed in defending her own territory, and her fleet will be unable to do anything in the Baltic, which is now blockaded by the Russian fleet. Her alliance will, however, be of great importance to the Western Powers, as it will relieve them from the necessity of keeping a large army in Holstein, and will enable them to concentrate their forces in the Crimea. Sweden will also be able to furnish them with provisions and supplies, and will be a valuable base of operations for the Western Powers.

The Convention is, we are informed, of a purely defensive character. It binds the Western Powers to assist Sweden with a fleet and army, in case she is attacked by Russia, and Sweden to assist the Western Powers in case they are attacked by Russia. The Convention is to remain in force for twenty years, and is to be kept secret for six months. The Western Powers have also undertaken to guarantee Sweden in the possession of Norway, which country, it is well known, is very desirous of throwing off the Swedish yoke. The Convention has been signed by Count WALEWSKI, Lord PALMERSTON and Baron MANTEUFFEL, on the part of France, England and Prussia, and by Count PIPER on the part of Sweden.

The importance of this Convention is very great. Sweden is a country of considerable extent, and has a population of 3,500,000. Her army is 40,000 strong, and her fleet consists of 15 ships of the line, 15 frigates, and a number of smaller vessels. Her alliance is, therefore, of considerable importance to the Western Powers. Her fleet will be of great assistance in the Baltic, which is now blockaded by the Russian fleet. Her alliance will, however, be of great importance to the Western Powers, as it will relieve them from the necessity of keeping a large army in Holstein, and will enable them to concentrate their forces in the Crimea. Sweden will also be able to furnish them with provisions and supplies, and will be a valuable base of operations for the Western Powers.

The Convention is, we are informed, of a purely defensive character. It binds the Western Powers to assist Sweden with a fleet and army, in case she is attacked by Russia, and Sweden to assist the Western Powers in case they are attacked by Russia. The Convention is to remain in force for twenty years, and is to be kept secret for six months. The Western Powers have also undertaken to guarantee Sweden in the possession of Norway, which country, it is well known, is very desirous of throwing off the Swedish yoke. The Convention has been signed by Count WALEWSKI, Lord PALMERSTON and Baron MANTEUFFEL, on the part of France, England and Prussia, and by Count PIPER on the part of Sweden.

The importance of this Convention is very great. Sweden is a country of considerable extent, and has a population of 3,500,000. Her army is 40,000 strong, and her fleet consists of 15 ships of the line, 15 frigates, and a number of smaller vessels. Her alliance is, therefore, of considerable importance to the Western Powers. Her fleet will be of great assistance in the Baltic, which is now blockaded by the Russian fleet. Her alliance will, however, be of great importance to the Western Powers, as it will relieve them from the necessity of keeping a large army in Holstein, and will enable them to concentrate their forces in the Crimea. Sweden will also be able to furnish them with provisions and supplies, and will be a valuable base of operations for the Western Powers.



BOARD AND ROOMS.

BOARD AND ROOMS.

BOARD AND ROOMS.

FARMS FOR SALE.

TO LET.

REAL ESTATE WANTED.

STORES TO LET.

STORES TO LET.

STORES TO LET.

STORES TO LET.

STORES TO LET.

COUNTY LANDS.

LAND WARRANTS WANTED.

LAND WARRANTS WANTED.

BANK NOTICES.

BANK NOTICES.

BANK NOTICES

FOR CALIFORNIA.

LOST AND FOUND.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS.